Portfolio manager comments — Q2 2024

Fund performance was positive in Q2 and the fund rose 6.5% in SEK. The period was marked by positive macroeconomic growth and higher risk sentiment. This led to a broader upturn where large, mid-sized and smaller companies benefited from the increased interest from investors.

Financials, communication services, industrials and technology were the strongest sectors and the fund's overweights in these sectors benefited from the strong performance. We increased the exposure to DNB during the quarter after a weak period. Together with the overweights in Sparebankene Rogaland, Midt-Norge, Nord-Norge and Vest, the fund was well-positioned to gain from the rebound in the bank sectors. The overweight in Schibsted and Telenor within communication services also continued to contribute positively. Within the industrials sector, Höegh Autoliners was the strongest positive contributor. The underweight in Tomra was also positive for returns. Within technology, Crayon was the strongest equity, with a significant contribution to the fund's total returns as a result of an upturn of over 60% to the share price. Raw materials, salmon and real estate were the only sectors that posted a downturn during the period, which benefited the fund due to its underweights in these areas. Autostore had a negative impact on returns in the period.

We are retaining our positioning in general for Q3 but are noting that market performance has been exceptionally strong since October 2023, with historic peaks in many markets worldwide, including Norway. We are looking forward to the upcoming Q2 reports, which are expected to give new indications about the direction of our holdings and future performance.
